

Robyn A. Rennick, M.S.

President, National Association for Adults with Special Learning Needs (NAASLN)

Robyn A. Rennick, M.S., has been teaching dyslexic and ADD students since 1979 and was principal of Woodland Hall Academy, a school for dyslexic students, from 1981 - 1998. She is a program director at the Dyslexia Research Institute in Tallahassee, Florida and administrator of the Adult Program. Ms. Rennick is also the Director of Teacher Training for Hardman & Associates.

Ms. Rennick holds a B.A. in English and Theatre with a teaching certification in English and a M.S. in Adult Education from Florida State University. She is also a certified Director and Teacher Trainer in the Hardman Technique, which indicates over 200 hours in instruction covering all areas of dyslexia.

Ms. Rennick has served as the editor and writer of the newsletter "H&A News and Views," which discusses aspects of dyslexia, ADD, and training opportunities by Hardman & Associates. She is a guest speaker on various aspects of dyslexia and ADD to many clubs, civic organizations, and state and national groups. Ms. Rennick is the workshop leader for teachers and parents concerning dyslexia, ADD and The Hardman Technique. She has organized and facilitated support groups for adults with dyslexia/ADD. In addition, Ms. Rennick has presented for adult education conferences in several states and conducted seminars on study strategies for adult students at the 2005 and 2006 COABE conferences.

Ms. Rennick is a former secretary of the Florida branch of the Orton Dyslexia Society, and is currently president of the National Association for Adults with Special Learning Needs (NAASLN). She is also a member of the Learning Disability Association, the International Dyslexia Association, and the Commission on Adult Basic Education and is president of the Coalition of McKay Scholarship schools, a Florida association.

Source: <http://www.dyslexia-add.org/directors.html>
